Whereas the High Court held that the respondent had been falsely imprisoned but both parties and the learned trial Judge had failed to address the issue of whether the respondent might have left Fiji using his Chinese passport if he had wished to do so;

And whereas the issue of possible liability for damages for failure to give prompt effect to the declaration of the Resident Magistrate made on 25 September 1989 that the respondent was entitled to have his Fiji passport returned to him was not addressed;

By consent the judgment of the High Court is set aside and the matter is remitted to the High Court for further hearing, the respondent having leave to amend his Statement of Claim, if he wishes.

Costs of these proceedings to be costs in the cause.
