Making a valid application

To make a valid application you must:

- Use this application form (available from all Nauruan diplomatic missions, from the Department’s website www.naurugov.nr/justice/visa.html or from the immigration and passport office in Nauru);
- Complete the form in English;
- Answer all questions truthfully;
- Provide all required supporting documents;
- Pay the required visa application fee;
- Lodge the application with the immigration office either through a representative in person or online at www.naurugov.nr/justice/immi/onlineapplication.html.

Any application that does not meet these requirements will not be a valid application and cannot be processed.

If you provide incorrect information or documents, this may affect whether you are granted a visa or not, or your visa may be subsequently cancelled.

Visa application fee

Payment must accompany your application. Payment can be made in cash at the Nauru Revenue Office or by electronic bank transfer (receipt being included with your online application or provided to the Immigration Office in Nauru in person by your representative).

If your visa application is not successful, your visa application fee will be refunded in full.

Who the form covers

The application form only covers you. A dependant accompanying you who will not be conducting a business or profession in Nauru should complete an Application for Dependant’s Visa. A dependant accompanying you who wishes to conduct a business or profession should complete a separate Application for Business Visa. A dependant is a spouse (other than a spouse from whom you are formally separated), a child under the age of 18 years or someone wholly dependent on you for financial, psychological or physical support.

Supporting Documents

The documents you must provide are listed in Part E of this application form. Attach all documents with your application.

Options for receiving written communications

You may opt to have all communications about your visa application sent to you electronically via email, or in hard copy via the postal service. Electronic communication is recommended because of the delays that can occur with the postal service. If you are outside Nauru and do not have access to email but do not wish to incur the delays associated with the postal service, you may request that all communications in relation to your visa application be delivered in hard copy to your representative in Nauru.

Important – please read this information carefully before you complete your application. Once you have completed your application we strongly advise that you keep a copy for your records.

Before filling in the form, make sure you have all the required documents, and make sure you have read the information page carefully, particularly the section on visa conditions.

Making a valid application

To make a valid application you must:

- Use this application form (available from all Nauruan diplomatic missions, from the Department's website www.naurugov.nr/justice/visa.html or from the immigration and passport office in Nauru);

If you provide incorrect information or documents, this may affect whether you are granted a visa or not, or your visa may be subsequently cancelled.

Who the form covers

The application form only covers you as a dependant of a Nauruan citizen. A dependant of a Nauruan citizen is a spouse of the citizen (unless you are formally separated from the citizen), a child under the age of 18 years of the citizen or a person wholly dependent on the citizen for financial, psychological or physical support.

Supporting Documents

The documents you must provide are listed in Part E of this application form. Attach all documents with your application.

for Oaths or, if you are outside Nauru, a similar person or agency in your country. Do not provide originals unless you are asked.

All documents not in English must be accompanied by a certified English translation of the original.

Passport Information

Please note that your passport must not be due to expire within 3 months from the date of your application. If you change your passport after you have been granted a visa you must notify the Immigration Office in Nauru.

Options for receiving written communications

You may opt to have all communications about your visa application sent to you electronically via email, or in hard copy via the postal service. Electronic communication is recommended because of the delays that can occur with the postal service. If you are outside Nauru and do not have access to email but do not wish to incur the delays associated with the postal service, you may request that all communications in relation to your visa application be delivered in hard copy to the Nauruan citizen of whom you are a dependant.

Conditions of Residence Visa

You must immediately notify the Principal Immigration Officer if there is a relevant change in your circumstances, for example, the birth or adoption of a child, the death of a dependant or you getting married, divorced or formally separated. It is an offence not to do so.

Expiry of Visa

A Residence Visa granted to you may expire if

- It is granted to you as a spouse dependant and you get divorced or formally separated
