ADVERTISEMENTNEW JOB OPPORTUNITIES IN OFFSET PRINTING

The Managing Director (Australia) and the Victorian Manager of the Addressograph-Multigraph Corporation are at present visiting Nauru to advise the Government on the installation of offset printing equipment as the basis for a future Government Printing Office.

If this project comes to fruition, there will be a need to select Nauruan staff to operate the printing plant. This staff will include an officer in charge, people with typing skills to prepare printing plates, machine operators and machine maintenance technicians.

Any Nauruan, whether employed by the Government or otherwise, who is interested in printing as a career should apply to the Senior Administrative Officer (K. Miller), Government Offices buildings, before Monday, 10th June. Applications may be given in writing or in the first instance by a telephone call to Telephone No. 443.

Offset printing is a new field of work on Nauru and offers an interesting and challenging career to young men and women who have an interest in producing high-standard printed material.
