Independent Consumer and Competition Commission Act 2002SECTION 108 (5) DECLARATION NOTICE (CERTAIN AQUATIC TOYS NOT SAFE)Declaration of Unsafe Goods (Certain Aquatic Toys Not Safe)

PURSUANT to Section 108(5) of the Independent Consumer and Competition Commission Act 2002 (ICCC Act), the Independent Consumer and Competition Commission (Commission) hereby declare as unsafe in PNG, certain aquatic toys of the type described in this Notice. An aquatic toy for the purpose of this Notice, relates to a toy made for children under 14 years old to play with and intended to support a child's weight in water, whether or not: inflatable, worn or otherwise attached to the body. These items include but are not limited to: inflatable novelty shapes, inflatable toy boats, which by virtue of their size and design are intended for use in shallow waters and unattached inflatable rings-complete or partial rings.

Such an aquatic toy cannot be supplied in PNG:

- Unless it carries the warnings permanently marked on it:

WARNING - AQUATIC TOY - THIS IS NOT A LIFE SAVING DEVICE.
USE ONLY IN SHALLOW WATER AND UNDER ADULT SUPERVISION

- Unless the above stated warning label is in the following form:
 - i. indelible (permanent);
 - ii. in block capital letter;
 - iii. not less than 6mm in height when the aid is deflated; and
 - iv. in a colour contrasting with the background.
- If any advertising copy or graphics state or imply that the child will be safe with such a toy if left unsupervised.

NOTE: A graphic of a child using a product in a pool without showing a supervisor would not generally indicate the toy is safe to use without supervision. The graphic would need to imply/represent that supervision is unnecessary to be non-compliant.

- All air inlets of the inflatable aquatic toy must have non-return valves with stoppers permanently attached to the toy.

Section 108 (5) Declaration Notice (Certain Aquatic Toys Not Safe)—continued

Excluded items:

- * Beach balls (not designed to support the weight of a child).
- * Surfboards (designed to be used in surf conditions).
- * Body/boogie boards (designed to be used in surf conditions).
- * Inflatable air beds (as these are generally not considered as toys).
- * Inflated boats which by virtue of their size and design are intended for use in deep water or kickboards.

Summary of Reasons

Such aquatic toys have the potential to cause injury by way of:

1. Death by drowning.

Children who cannot swim can drown if their aquatic toy fails or if they are using the toy unsupervised and relying on its buoyancy. The risk of drowning also increases if a child suffers an injury while playing with a toy in the water.

2. Brain injury by near-drowning.

Children who are revived from near-drowning may still suffer permanent brain injury from lack of oxygen to the brain.

Subject to the above, any person or persons supplying unsafe aquatic toys of the type described in this Notice may be in breach of this Notice and liable for prosecution pursuant to Section 134 of the ICCC Act with a penalty of up to K50,000.00 or imprisonment for 6 months if prosecuted at the District Court or a penalty of up to K100,000.00 or imprisonment for 2 years, if referred to a higher Court. Further, pursuant to Section 111(1) of the ICCC Act, action may be taken by the Commission to recall these products. The Commission therefore informs the general public and all stakeholders that these products should not be supplied in PNG.

This declaration takes effect on and from the date of publication of this Notice in the National Gazette and unless revoked, shall remain in force for 18 months.

Dated this 11th day of November, 2016.

A. HUBERT,
Acting Chief Executive Officer,

For and on behalf of Independent Consumer and Competition Commission.
