 - (e) to transactions relating to aircraft regulated under the Civil Aviation Act.
- (3) If there is a conflict between a provision of this Act and a provision of any other written law, the provision of this Act shall prevail unless the provision of that other Act specifically amends or repeals a provision of this Act.

4 Objects of this Act

For the purposes of facilitating access to credit in the market, the objects of this Act are:

- (a) to establish the priority of various security interests in collateral as against all other persons with competing claims in such collateral; and
- (b) to ensure that public records held by the Filing Office provide notifications to all other persons of the existence of the security interests in such collateral.

PART II SECURITY INTEREST, OBLIGATIONS AND PRIORITY

5 Obligations

A security interest may secure one or more obligations which may:

- (a) be described specifically or generally;
- (b) be monetary or non-monetary;
- (c) be pre-existing, present or future; or
- (d) be in respect of a current account.

6 Security interest in consumer goods

A security interest may not be taken in the consumer goods of a debtor except for a purchase of money security interest in the consumer goods.

7 Description of collateral

- (1) A description of collateral is sufficient, whether it is specific or general, if it reasonably identifies what is described, such as “all equipment” or “all movable property” except that consumer goods require a specific description.

8 Attachment of interest

- (1) A security interest attaches to collateral and becomes enforceable only if:
 - (a) each debtor has signed a security agreement that describes the collateral;
 - (b) value has been given by the secured party; and
 - (c) the debtor has rights in the collateral
- (2) A security interest attaches to proceeds unless otherwise agreed.

9 Notice to account debtors not required

If collateral consists of present or future accounts, secured sales contracts or payment of intangibles, notice to the account debtors is not required as a condition of attachment or perfection of the security interest.

10 Continuity of security interest

A security interest continues in collateral notwithstanding sale, lease, licence, exchange or other disposition of the collateral, except as otherwise provided in this Act or agreed by the parties.

11 Security agreement in a record

- (1) A security agreement must be in a record or multiple records, which may be electronic.

- (2) A security agreement is effective between the parties and against purchasers and creditors, except as otherwise provided in this Act.

12 Perfection of security interest

- (1) A security interest is perfected when it has attached to the collateral and a means of perfection is completed, subject to the conditions specified in section 20.
- (2) The means of perfection are:
 - (a) the filing of a notice;
 - (b) the possession of the collateral;
 - (c) the control of the collateral; and
 - (d) the automatic perfection as provided in subsections 20(1) and (5).

13 Means of perfection in special cases

A notice must be filed in the Filing Office to perfect a security interest with the following qualifications:

- (a) perfection occurs automatically upon attachment of the security interest in case of a purchased money security interest in consumer goods of the debtor;
- (b) a security interest in goods, instruments, documents or secured sales contracts may be perfected by secured party's taking possession;
- (c) a security interest in a deposit account may be perfected only by the secured party's control of the deposit account;
- (d) upon disposition of collateral, a security interest attaches to proceeds of the collateral and is continuously perfected if the security interest in the collateral was perfected. The security interest in proceeds becomes unperfected 15 days after the debtor receives the proceeds unless the proceeds are identifiable cash proceeds or are described by the collateral description in the filed notice;

- (e) a lessor or a buyer of accounts or secured sales contracts may perfect its interest in the same manner as for a security interest; and
- (f) a security in a motor vehicle or serial numbered equipment may be perfected by filing a notice that describes the motor vehicle or the serial numbered equipment generally or by serial number. As against a buyer or lessee, however, priority requires description by serial number.

14 Perfection by different means

A security interest is perfected continuously if it is first perfected in one manner and later perfected in another manner, without a period when it is not perfected.

15 Assignment of security interest

If a secured party assigns a perfected security interest, a notice need not be filed under this Act to continue perfection of the security interest.

16 Lapse of perfection

When a filing period lapses as a result of a failure to file a continuation notice by the lapse date, perfection of the security interest also lapses, unless perfection is achieved by another means prior to the lapse.

17 Priority rules

- (1) Security interests and interests of lien holders in the same collateral have priority according to time of filing of notice or perfection by other means, except as otherwise provided in this Act.
- (2) Priority is measured from the earlier to occur of filing of a notice or perfection by other means, provided that there is no time thereafter when a notice is not effective or perfection does not exist.
- (3) The first security interest to attach to a collateral has priority among security interests for which there is no effective filed notice or other form of perfection.

18 Priority continues in proceeds

The priority of a security interest in proceeds is the same as the priority of the security interest in the original collateral.

19 Purchase of secured sales contract or instruments

A purchaser of secured sales contracts or instruments has priority over a secured party's security interest in the secured interest in the secured sales contracts or instruments if in the ordinary course of the purchaser's business:

- (a) the purchaser gives new value and takes possession of the secured sales contracts or instruments; and
- (b) the secured sales contracts or instruments do not indicate as an assignment to the secured party.

20 Transferee Exception

- (1) A transferee takes collateral free of a security interest if the transferee gives value and takes delivery of the collateral without knowledge of the security interest and before a notice is filed or security interest is otherwise perfected.
- (2) A buyer or lessee of goods in the ordinary course of business takes free of a security interest, even if the security interest is perfected and the buyer or lessee knows of its existence.
- (3) A buyer or a lessee of a motor vehicle or serial numbered equipment takes it free of a security interest, if the buyer or lessee does not know of the security interest and if the serial number is not included on a filed notice of security interest.
- (4) A buyer takes free of a perfected security interest in goods if the secured party consents to the sale by the debtor.
- (5) A person who receives cash for value takes free of a perfected security interest in the cash.

- (6) A lien holder who takes control of collateral or causes collateral to be seized before a security interest is perfected takes free of the security interest.
- (7) A court or a liquidator of an insolvent company that takes physical custody or control of assets before a security interest is perfected in such assets takes free of the security interest.

21 Purchase money security interest

- (1) A purchased money security interest in equipment has priority over a conflicting security interest if the purchase money security interest is perfected when the debtor receives possession of the equipment or within 10 days thereafter.
- (2) A purchase money interest in goods or their proceeds that is perfected not later than 10 days from the date the debtor obtains possession of the goods has priority over the rights of a buyer, lessee or lien holder which arise between the time the security interest attaches and the time the notice is filed.
- (3) A perfected purchased money security interest in inventory or livestock has priority over a conflicting perfected security interest in the same inventory or livestock if:
 - (a) the purchase money security is perfected when the debtor receives possession of the inventory or livestock; and
 - (b) not later than 10 days after the debtor receives possession, the purchase money secured party gives written notice to the holder of the conflicting perfected security interest in the same types of inventory or livestock.

22 Livestock

A perfected security interest in livestock given for value to enable the debtor to obtain food or medicine for the livestock has priority over any other security interest in the livestock or its proceeds granted by the debtor except for a perfected purchase money security interest in the livestock.

23 Fixtures

- (1) A security interest may continue in goods that become fixtures.
- (2) A security interest in fixtures is subordinate to rights in the immovable property to which it is affixed.
- (3) Subsection (2) does not apply:
 - (a) if a notice of the security interest in the fixtures has been filed in the Filing Office;
 - (b) if the right in the immovable priority arose after the goods became fixed, the filing of the notice of the security interest in the fixtures preceded registration of the rights in or seizure of the immovable property.

24 Crops

- (1) A perfected security interest in crops growing or to be grown has priority over a conflicting interest of the owner or mortgagee of the land if the debtor is in possession of the land or has an interest in the land that is registered in accordance with the Land and Titles Act.
- (2) A perfected security interest in crops or their proceeds, given for value to enable the debtor to produce or harvest the crops and given while the crops are growing or during the 6 month period before the crops were planted has priority over any other security interest in the same collateral given by the same debtor.
- (3) An unperfected security interest in crops is subordinate to the rights of a judgment creditor who causes the land to be seized in order to enforce a judgement.

25 Right of retention

A right of retention has priority over a perfected security in goods if the right of retention arises in the ordinary course of business of the person in possession of the goods.

26 Accession

- (1) A security interest continues in collateral that becomes an accession.

- (2) If the security interest is perfected when the collateral becomes an accession, the security interest remains perfected in the accession.

27 Commingled goods

- (1) In this section, “commingled goods” means goods that are physically united with other goods in a way that their identity is lost in a product or mass.
- (2) A security interest may not be created in commingled goods unless the collateral to which a security interest has attached becomes commingled, in which case the security interest attaches to the product or mass.
- (3) If a security interest is perfected before the collateral becomes commingled, the security interest continues to be perfected in the product or mass.
- (4) For the purpose of subsection (3), the priority of the security interest in the product or mass is measured from the time of perfection of the security interest in the collateral that became commingled, except as limited by subsection (5)(c).
- (5) If more than one security interest attaches to the product or mass, the following rules determine priority:
 - (a) a security interest that is perfected has priority over a security interest that is unperfected at the time the collateral becomes commingled goods;
 - (b) the first security interest to attach to the product or mass has priority among unperfected security interest; and
 - (c) if more than one security interest is perfected, the perfected security interests rank equally in proportion to the value of the collateral at the time it becomes commingled.

28 Subordination

A secured party may, in a security agreement or otherwise, subordinate its security interest to any other interest.

 - (a) the security agreement so provides; or
 - (b) the debtor has agreed in writing after default
- (3) If the collateral is a fixture, the secured party may remove it from the immovable property to which it is fixed without judicial process only if the debtor has agreed in writing after default.
- (4) If, upon default, the secured party cannot take possession or control of collateral without breach of the peace, or if the debtor does not agree after default to removal of collateral that is a fixture, the secured party may proceed as follows:
 - (a) the secured party may apply for an expedited hearing to the court for an order granting the secured party possession of the collateral; and
 - (b) the secured party shall serve on the debtor a copy of the application, including a copy of all supporting documents submitted to the court.
- (5) An application under subsection (4)(a) shall include a statement by the secured party, under oath, verifying the existence of the security agreement attached to the application and identifying at least one event of default by the debtor under the security agreement.
- (6) The court shall fix a hearing under subsection (4)(a) at the earliest available time, provided that the application shall not be heard without service of the application and reasonable notice of the hearing on the debtor unless the court is satisfied that:
 - (a) the secured party has made reasonable efforts to make service on the debtor and such efforts have not been successful; or
 - (b) the hearing should be conducted without delay to prevent damage to the collateral, substantive loss of the value of the collateral or the right to possession of the secured party.

- (7) If, after the hearing of an application, the court is satisfied that:
- (a) it is probable that a default has occurred under the security agreement; and
 - (b) the secured party has a secured right to take possession of the collateral,
- the court may grant an interim order for possession of the collateral pending a final order.
- (8) An order granted under subsection (7) may direct the debtor to take such action as the court thinks fit to allow the secured party to take possession.
- (9) If an interim order is granted under subsection (7) for possession of the collateral by the secured party, the secured party may make another application to the court for an order to sell or dispose of the collateral under section 42 unless the collateral is rare or unique, or otherwise of such nature that it is unlikely to be replaceable.
- (10) If the collateral is disposed of pending final order, the secured party shall retain possession of the proceeds of the disposition pending the final order, unless the court orders that the proceeds shall be held in escrow.
- (11) A secured party who takes possession of collateral under an order issued under subsection (7) shall use reasonable care in the custody and preservation of collateral in possession of the secured party, pending disposition under subsection (9) or a final order or such other orders as the court shall deem necessary.
- (12) Unless otherwise agreed, while the collateral is in the possession of the secured party, reasonable expenses may be charged to the debtor and secured by the collateral, including the cost of any insurance, payment of taxes or fees associated with the collateral.
- (13) Notwithstanding subsection (4), a secured party may seek orders with respect to collateral and to enforce his rights pursuant to the rules of civil procedure relating to enforcement of judgment.

- (1) After default, a secured party may, either publicly or privately, lease or licence, sell or dispose of the collateral.
- (2) The secured party may buy at any public or private sale or disposition.

43 Commercial reasonableness required

- (1) In disposing of collateral, the secured party shall act in a commercially reasonable manner.
- (2) A sale is not commercially unreasonable merely because a better price could have been obtained by sale at a different time or by a different method from the time and method selected by the secured party.
- (3) A sale is commercially reasonable if the secured party disposes of the collateral in conformity with commercial practices among dealers in that type of property.
- (4) If a method of disposition of collateral has been approved in any legal proceedings, the method is deemed to be commercially reasonable, but no such approval is required by this Act.

44 Notice of disposition

- (1) The secured party shall, not later than 10 days before disposing the collateral, give notice of disposition to the following persons:
 - (a) the debtor;
 - (b) any other secured party or lien holder who, 5 days before the date notice is given, held security interest or lien in the collateral that was perfected by filing; and
 - (c) any other person from whom the secured party received notice of a claim of an interest in the collateral if the notice was received before the secured party gives notice of the proposed disposition.
- (2) The debtor may waive the right to be notified, provided that the waiver is given after the secured party has given possession of the collateral.

- (3) A notice of disposition is sufficient if the notice:
 - (a) identifies the debtor and the secured party;
 - (b) describes the collateral;
 - (c) states the method of intended disposition; and
 - (d) states the time and place of a public sale or time after which other disposition is to be made.
- (4) Subsection (1) does not apply if the collateral is perishable or threatens to decline speedily in value or is of a type customarily sold on a recognized market.

45 Repair or preparation of collateral

The collateral may be disposed of by the secured party in its existing condition or after repair, processing or preparation for disposition.

46 Application of proceeds and clear title of buyer

- (1) The proceeds of disposition shall be applied in the following order of priority:
 - (a) the reasonable expense of retaking, holding, preparing for disposition, and disposing of the collateral, including reasonable legal expenses incurred by the secured party;
 - (b) the satisfaction of obligations secured by a senior security interest or lien;
 - (c) the satisfaction of the obligation secured by the security interest; and
 - (d) the satisfaction of obligations secured by any subordinate security interest or lien in the collateral if a written demand and proof of the interest are received before distribution of the proceeds is completed.

- (2) The secured party shall account to the debtor for any surplus, and unless otherwise agreed, the debtor is liable for any deficiency.
- (3) If collateral is sold to a purchaser who acquires the interest for value and in good faith and takes possession of it, the purchaser acquires the collateral free from the interests of the secured party, debtor and any subordinate secured party or lien holder.

47 Retention of collateral by secured party

- (1) After default, the secured party may propose to the debtor to take all or part of the collateral in satisfaction of all or part of the debtor's obligation.
- (2) For the purpose of subsection (1), the secured party shall give notice of the proposal to the following persons:
 - (a) the debtor;
 - (b) any other secured party or lien holder who 5 days before the notice is given to the debtor, has perfected its security interest or lien by filing ; or
 - (c) any other person with an interest in the collateral who has given a written notice to the secured party before the notice is given to the debtor.
- (3) If the secured party receives objection in writing from the person entitled to receive notice under subsection (2) within 20 days after the notice was given, the secured party must dispose of the collateral under sections 41 to 45.
- (4) If no objection is received under subsection (3), the secured party may retain the collateral in satisfaction of the debtor's obligation in accordance with the proposal.

48 Redemption

- (1) A person who is entitled to receive a notice of disposition may redeem the collateral unless:
 - (a) the person has not, after the default, waived in writing the right to redeem;

- (b) the secured party has not yet disposed of or contracted for disposition of the collateral; and
 - (c) the secured party has not irrevocably elected to retain the collateral.
- (2) For the purpose of redeeming the collateral, the person must tender performance of all obligations secured by the collateral, and pay any reasonable expenses incurred to seize, hold, repair and prepare the collateral for disposition.

49 Remedies for secured party non compliance

- (1) If the secured party does not comply with any requirement of this Part, the court may, upon application, order or restrain the disposal of collateral.
- (2) If the collateral has been disposed, the debtor or any person entitled to be informed or whose security interest has been made known to the secured party before the disposal, has the right to recover from the secured party any loss caused by a failure to comply with this Part.
