Discount Rentals vs - Nellie Nakul

Appearances: Mrs Deamer (for Plaintiff) in person And. Nellie Nakul (Defendant) in person.

Plea: G.

Defendant: I admit that I have not paid my outstanding at the discount rentals. The reason was that I had booked a pick up truck. When I got there the pick had already been given to somebody else. I was given another vehicle and upon returning the vehicle I wrote out an open cheque to them. I told them they would cash

The cheque when I deposited the money. I agree to pay of $1,760 the original claim but not the interests and costs.

Plaintiff:

I rang him, I didn't say anything harsh. I politely that the cheque had bounced and we were charge the bank charge. Secondly we rang him always he didn't want to answer to us.
About the interest it is an agreement set out in the form that if a person fails to pay his rental fees we will charge interest. So when he got the vehicle he had been told to pay interests if he failed to pay his fees.

I wish to cut the interests down to half. That would be around $11,100. $

$34,500.

Defendant: I do not have a permanent job and I wish to ~~ask~~ the court to order that I pay in instalments of 172000 per month.

Plaintiff: There would be fine but we will keep charging interest until he completes his payment.

Court order: That the defendant pay V 34,100 by instalments of 172000 per month commencing 30/5/95.

30 days to appeal.
