Case S-0001-14

Electricity Safety Standards and Rules

URA electricity standards and rules regulating works and safety of persons in the vicinity of electricity grids

February 2015

1. Introduction

Table 1: Information

Case number	S-0001-14
In the matter of	Electricity Safety Standards and Rules: URA electricity standards and rules regulating works and safety of persons in the vicinity of electricity grids
Date of Final Order	5 th December 2014
Date of Gazettal and date on which Rules came into effect	17 th December 2014

Amendment of the Rules

On 4th February 2015 the Commission of the Utilities Regulatory Authority (URA) approved amendment #1 to the Electricity Safety Standards and Rules, URA Case S-0001-14 (Rules) which were gazetted on 17th December 2014. .

The Commission has ordered that the Rules be amended as set out in section 2. After the gazettal of the amendment, the Rules will mean the Rules set forth by the Final Order dated 5th December 2014 as amended by section 2. The revised Rules will come into effect from the date of gazettal.

2. Amendment to the Rules

1. Rule 1.6

Repeal rule 1.6 and substitute with:

“1.6.1 The utility shall charge the following application fee for a Planned Activity Permit:

- (a) 1500 vatu for residential buildings
- (b) 3000 vatu for non-residential buildings
- (c) 5000 vatu for construction works related ground surface infrastructures other than buildings and for underground infrastructures

1.6.2 The utility shall not charge any fees for activities performed under these Rules other than the fees set out in rule 1.6.1.”

2. Rule 2(iv)

After “Buildings: includes any construction on the ground in excess of 3 metres high ordinarily accessible by persons” and before sub-rule (v) insert:

- (a) “Ground surface infrastructure: visible structures that are built on the ground surface such as roads, towers, fences, billboards etc.
- (b) Underground infrastructures: structures that will be build underground such as cables conduits, water supply pipes, railways, tunnel etc.”

3. Rule 5.3(a)

Repeal rule 5.3(a) and substitute with:

“Insulated conductors along a front wall: The minimum distance is set at 0 metres between insulated conductors and a front wall and shall be increased where necessary to ensure that damage to cable insulation is avoided and public safety is not compromised. Safety distances need to be observed in relation to windows and any other metallic component. The conductors are to be kept out of reach by placing effective obstacles or through insulation. In particular, they must be protected from the shock of metal hand-tools all along their height below 2 metres down to the ground.”

4. Rule 5.4(a)

Repeal rule 5.4(a) and substitute with:

“Where an overhead LV power line cuts across a telephone line, the power line must be located above, at a minimum distance of 1 metre.”

5. Rule 6.1

Repeal rule 6.1 and substitute with:

“Where a new HV line cuts across or runs alongside an existing HV or LV line, the minimum distance to be observed:

- (a) if the HV line is a bare conductor is 2 metres;
- (b) if the 2 lines are insulated conductors they can be as close as possible as long as there is sufficient spacing between cables to avoid the risk of rubbing and deterioration of insulating material.”

6. Rule 6.2

Repeal rule 6.2 and substitute with:

- (a) “Where a new LV line as insulated conductor cuts across or runs alongside an existing HV line, the minimum distance to be observed:
 - (i) if the HV line is a bare conductor is 2 metres;
 - (ii) if the 2 lines are insulated conductors they can be as close as possible as long as there is sufficient spacing between cables to avoid the risk of rubbing and deterioration of insulating material.
- (b) Where a new LV line as insulated conductor cuts across or runs alongside an existing insulated LV line, the minimum distance between the cables can be as close as possible as long as there is sufficient spacing between cables to avoid the risk of rubbing and deterioration of insulating material.”

7. Rule 6.7(b)

Repeal rule 6.7(b) and substitute with:

- “(b) Guard against the risk of rubbing and deterioration of the insulating material must be ensured at all time for grids as insulated conductors (HV and LV).”

Rule 6.7(c)

In Rule 6.7(c), delete the words “that are bare conductors”.
